

BEAR MARKET DECISION FOR THE EQUITY INVESTOR

NEI

What this chart shows

If you invested $10,000 in global stocks at the start of 2007, by March 2009, the month they hit bottom after the financial crisis, your investment was worth $5,773 – a drop of nearly 42%. If you threw in the towel at that point and invested your remaining money in a 5-year GIC (not knowing of course that it was the bottom), 13 years later you would still be looking at a loss. If you had simply stayed invested, you would have more than tripled your money. If you had added $10,000, you would have earned roughly 4.3 times your total invested capital. (Chart notes are on the following page.)

The bottom line

It's impossible to know when the market is at a top or a bottom. But we do know that selling your investments after a steep loss can have a significant negative impact on your financial future. In other words: don't lose twice.
